Love Craft Makers: Making in Modern Britain explores these questions through the work of over 60 contemporary makers. From ceramicists to furniture makers, textile artists to glassblowers, these makers are pushing the boundaries of craft and creating beautiful and functional objects that are both unique and meaningful.

The book is divided into five chapters, each of which focuses on a different aspect of contemporary craft. The first chapter, "The Value of Craft," explores the economic and social value of craft. The second chapter, "The Materials of Craft," discusses the importance of materials in the creative process. The third chapter, "The Techniques of Craft," showcases the wide range of techniques used by contemporary makers. The fourth chapter, "The Design of Craft," examines the relationship between craft and design. And the fifth chapter, "The Future of Craft," looks at the challenges and opportunities facing contemporary makers.

Love Craft Makers is a beautiful and inspiring book that celebrates the creativity and innovation of contemporary British makers. With over 250 stunning images, this book is a must-have for anyone interested in craft, design, or British culture.
