Reporting on the Holocaust

In 1939, Van Paassen became a war correspondent for the North American Newspaper Alliance, reporting from the front lines of the European theater. His eyewitness accounts of the horrors of the Holocaust were among the first to reach the outside world, exposing the atrocities committed by the Nazis.

Pierre Van Paassen, born at Gorcum, Holland in 1895, comes of a family that includes a long line of Protestant reformers on both sides. Educated at the Erasmus Gymnasium in Gorcum, he emigrated to Canada with his family when he was in his middle teens. He served in the First World War as a volunteer with the Canadian Expeditionary Force and participated in the campaigns overseas. After the war he traveled the world over as a newspaper correspondent.
